Three things every AEC firm should do about AI
governance right now

SWIPE ►

— ACTION ONE

Map what your firm is actually using

Include the tools staff adopted on their own. You cannot govern a shadow subscription you do not know about, and most firms have several.

— ACTION TWO

Classify the risk by where the output lands

Any AI output that reaches a client deliverable is high risk by definition, and a licensed professional has to own it.

— ACTION THREE

Write the acceptable use policy down

Data handling, output review, and sign off. Three sections, plain language, short enough that people actually read it.

The rule that holds all three together

AI can assist your team, but a licensed professional must review, validate, and take responsibility for the work. Everything else is implementation detail.
