

— PRACTICE

Should you tell clients you use AI?

SWIPE ►

Check your contracts first

Subconsultant, confidentiality, and work product clauses can already speak to this. Read them before you decide what to say.

— WHAT WORKS

One rehearsed answer

Not a policy document. A short, honest sentence every principal in the firm can give the same way.

Accountability, not disclosure

Clients want to know a licensed engineer still reviews and signs the work, not a list of which tools touched it.

— A E C E N T R I C

Give clients a straight answer

Every principal should be able to say the same sentence, the same way, every time.

Full breakdown at the link in bio.

